This Title 245a shows The Lone Ranger and Tonto fist fight in heaven and has a Second Indicator value of 4. This means when this Title is typed in as shown the word “The” as part of the Search; G3 would ignore the first 4 characters and would search beginning with the word “Lone” and everything typed after. Some librarians are unsure of Title Nulls and worry about the patron becoming confused when searching a Title that contains leading descriptions that might become a problem.

The Title was originally “The Lone Ranger and Tonto fist fight in heaven. “The” was removed from the Title; however the Second Indicator remained unchanged leaving the number 4 in that field. This would cause two problems, 1. The word “Lone” would be completely ignored and the space after “Lone” would throw this Title completely out of Title order because of the presence of the 4 in the second indicator position.

Indicator values are nothing more than a means to tell the G3 program to ignore the first characters of a Title equal to the count that appears in the Second indicator.

Note: The 740a Secondary Title the Indicators are reversed the 1st. indicator is the Title null.

When a Title is added manually it sometimes becomes confusing to someone not quite familiar with the use of MARC Cataloging and how a Title Null is used and why a Title Null is used.

When records come in from a reputable provider, Title Nulls are usually never an issue. Manual cataloging or the concern that a library patron may not always type the character or Title null into their search sets the stage of modification. Most Title Nulls are simply The, And or A; some libraries will remove "The" from a Title thinking someone will not find their Title because of "The". This is a matter of preference as Title Nulls can be used for hiding or subordinating leading words or characters of a Title. The above Title was modified to eliminate "The" and the 2nd. Indicator position was changed to a value of 0 (zero).
